

Phonon-Photon interactions with a trapped ion in a cavity

Miguel Orszag

Abstract

A trapped ion in a cavity can be used either to translate phonon to photon statistics when pumped incoherently, or transfer squeezing from phonons to photons, when the electronic pump is coherent and one has a particular phonon pump.